The Ignite Talks were established in 2015 to honor the memory of William Harmless, SJ. As a form of public theology, these talks seek to bring the richness of the Catholic theological tradition to audiences beyond the academy. On Wednesday, October 11, renowned speakers from across the country will join the Creighton community to address the issue of “Borders and Walls”. We hope you will join us for a stimulating evening of conversation.

SPEAKERS

Tom Kelly, PhD
Borders Within the Heart: Perception, Reflection and Identity

Christina Van Dyke, PhD
Tiny Cells, Interior Castles: Changing the World from Within

Jason C. Bivins, PhD
Improvised Religion: Boundaries and Flow

Rebecca Krawiec, PhD
God as a “Wall of Fire”: Walls, Boundaries, and Identity in Egyptian Monasticism

For more information, contact Pam Yenko at pyenko@creighton.edu

Sponsored by the College of Arts and Sciences.